VOL. III. NO. 265.

CHICAGO, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1897.

PRICE, 5 CENTS

A SHABBY TURF CRITIC.

Here's some shabby comment about a turfman from an ancient creature who "bull cons" the present turf generation to which he doesn't belong. He is known to the public as "Broadchurch" and comments through an excellent and respectable journal, The Spirit of the Times of New York, as follows:

"If a man were to tell you that Barney Schreiber is an Irishman you could safely respond that he was a liar, for Barney has all the ear-marks of the conventional German, albeit he speaks good English. At first glance he was the slightly suggest the regulation "Rube," having a countryfied look, but in reality he is a sharp and shrewd bookmaker, a successful owner, and has made quite a fortune on the turf. I believe he is loser on the present season, but in a few years he made enough money to buy and stock a breeding farm, to control a daily turf paper, and yet retain a bundle amply large enough for bookmaking and speculative purposes. Schreiber has good manners and good sense, and is very popular."

DAILY RACING FORM believes in telling the truth. Broadchurch's reference as to "control of a daily turf paper" by Mr. Schreiber, is aimed at DAILY RACING FORM. The ordinary name of Broadchurch is Thomas Atcheson. He lies in reference as to Mr. Schreiber's "control of a daily turf paper"—perhaps with knowledge. But at any rate he lies. Atcheson has a sore spot to heal. He has many fingers in pickle to many rings, too. But that's another story of items—on call when necessary.

When I was in charge of the Tribune's sporting department it became necessary to print the keen figures of form from distant points. Atcheson had been reporting racing at one of these points. He wasn't up to date. I got a man who was competent to do such work that Atcheson could not do according to his 1860 method. Atcheson's turn down for incompetence angered him.

If the human fossils who interfere with progress could comprehend the damage of their interference, and the health of their removal, the march of time would be far more harmonious than it is. The failure to comprehend this idea bothered Atcheson in 1894 and bothers him yet. Hence his furtive untruth of reference as to Mr. Schreiber's "control of a daily turf paper."

If anyone thinks that I do not control DAILY RACING FORM he can try me out or ask Schreiber, who is my partner—and a most excellent one. He has never asked me, since he has had an interest with me, to "boost" or "boom" any thing he owned or unjustly laud any enterprise with which he was or is connected. DAILY RACING FORM's pages since its birth can attest to this. Mr. Schreiber and his interests have been treated on the same plane as those of other men and other interests. The folks to whom Atcheson is in pawn have not been used so publicly. Particulars in this line also will be furnished on call.

Pacific Coast J. C. Entries Extended.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 5.—The time of closing of entries for the Ocean View, Malowsky, Androus, Olympic, Occidental, Corrigan and Schreiber stakes, all for two-year-olds, has been extended to January 15, 1898. The other stakes announced to close November 15, will close on that date.

Books of October Form are Ready.

The full October charts, in both morocco and paper covers are ready for delivery. There will be no books for sale after this week.

TAME RACING AT LAKESIDE.

Friday afternoon was raw and uncouth and the crowd at Lakeside was meager.

Six races were on the card. But owing to long delays at the post and the fact that all bets were declared off and Jersey Lad excused in the second event it became dark before the menu could be fully discussed. So the sixth race was declared off.

Of the five races run Adowa and Fervor were the only favorites to score and consequently the ring had a favorable day.

The fourth race at eight and one-half furlongs was the afternoon's artistic and interesting feature. Jane won it from Booze by a neck, after a desperate drive through the stretch.

When the closing race was declared off there was lots of trouble about combinations. Col. Clark issued the following fair and reasonable rule which will govern in future:

"Holders of combination tickets which had lost up to the sixth race hold no winning interest, but holders of combination tickets which had won until the said sixth race had been declared off hold winning tickets."

LAKESIDE FORM.

Winner—Br. c. 3, by Martenhurst—Ernestine.

Start good for all but Colorado. Mercutio was the best and is a most promising colt. Fortunate was slow to get away. He was short. Andrew is not good in moist going. Santuzza was outclassed. Throw out Lost Girl's race.

Scratched—Judge Denny, 109.

2549 SECOND RACE—3-4 Mile. Purse $500. 3-year-olds and upward. Allowances. DECLARED OFF.

*First series.

Winner—Ch. f. by Apache—Rill.

Start good. Won in a mild drive. The right one won. Lena was lucky and best too. Star was badly managed and cannot stand grief. William needs strong handling. He favors mud but was out of it at the head of the stretch. Throw out races on Devil's Dream and Personne. The latter favors a route and was badly ridden.

Scratched—Naranja, 105; Alma, 105.

Winner—Ch. f. 4, by Colona—Laura D.

Start straggling. Won easily. Daylight outclassed his field in the going. Palomacita is ready. She did not like the footing. Cripple closed a lot of ground, after being practically left. He sulks and is far from reliable. Major S ran an honest race under bad handling. Blue was short, but was nearly ready. Mollie R was not among her own.

Time, 25 1/2, 51 1/2, 1:04 1/2.

Winner—B. c. by Duncombe—Spinning Time.

Start good. Won easily. Spunwell was best. His race was far above par. He favors mud. Marmion was badly handled. He needs a strong rider. He bore in when driven. Novia was badly ridden and short, but finished strong. Plan, off badly, made up much ground and is nearly ready. Brambella had an easy race. So had Sevoy, Judge Napton and Valenciennne. The latter was short.

2553 SIXTH RACE—5-8 Mile. Purse $400. 2-year-olds. Allowances.

Winner—Ch. f, by Deceiver—Lizzie Montrose.
Post 8 minutes. Start good. Won in a mild drive; second and third hard driven. Adowa was best ridden. Riders reversed, Scornful would have won. Conley got away smartly and took the short route with Adowa. He met with some hampering, but not enough to interfere with the justice of the filly's race. La Princessa liked the going and ran a good race. She was sharply interfered with soon after the start. Gov. Saussenthaler seemed to be running easily on the stretch turn, where he was cut down. Tern showed some early speed. She stopped badly, though, at the head of the stretch.

Scratched—Infelice, 107; Lillian M, 107.

Winner—Ch. g, 4, by Loyalty—Irony.
Post 10 minutes. Start good. The first three were driving hard. It looked like anybody's race as to the first three up to the very last stride. Loyalty took the short route. McFarland was made too much use of and died away to nothing. The going was not soft enough for Jambooree.

Winner—B. f, by Esher—Sis O'Lee.
Post 3 minutes. Start good. The first three were driving hard. The finish was a glory, similar to that in the first race. Tempo was out of his class and naturally seemed to have lost a lot of form in twenty-four hours. Really he ran an honest race. Bonadea performed above the notch. Rastus is rounding to.

Winner—B. m, 5, by Lisbon—Isis.
Post 3 minutes. Start good. Won easily; second driving. Masterpiece closed strong. Margaret Lyne needed a race. Annie M is a queer filly. She virtually walked away from the others at the finish, after being tried out on a speed basis. She reverts in soft going. Midlight might have been doing her best.

Post 10 minutes. Start good. Won in a gallop; second easily. Griffith was much the best and was never extended. It was a poor lot and its contention not worthy of extended comment. We know it's race was not to the line. May's was above the mark. Griffith might be far better than his racing tabs him, especially in the mud.
